

Discover the Period Rooms: Using Your Senses

Period rooms are interior spaces—either removed from their original locations or built specifically for the museum—that can teach us a lot about various places and time periods.

As you view the period rooms, look around and imagine what you might have seen, heard, touched, tasted, and smelled if you had lived there. List what your senses imagined in the columns provided.

Period Room Name	Sight	Sound	Touch	Taste	Smell